DMC ADDRESSES MIGRANT WORKER HOUSING NEEDS WITH PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

As the four chosen social enterprise projects of the Diehl Family Social Enterprise Competition continue to move forward on setting startup benchmarks for the upcoming year, the DeVoe Moore Center continues to expand its capacity for impact through social entrepreneurship by welcoming to our staff new full-time policy analyst Kaylee Tuck!

Tuck will focus on migrant worker housing, especially in Florida, developing a working model for affordable, privately-operated migrant worker housing. Her model also has the possibility of being applied on a national level.

Her first year will focus on developing a full business plan, with her second year focused on the implementation. Her project pilots a mechanism for translating social enterprise concepts into real-world applications, highlighting a broader mission of Florida State’s social entrepreneurship initiative. We are happy to have Kaylee on board and are excited to see what she brings forth in the next two years!
