SUMMER 2015 SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

The College of Social Sciences and Public Policy, Interdisciplinary Social Sciences (ISS) program, and Social Entrepreneurship & Innovation Program in partnership with Global Peace Exchange are offering two social entrepreneurship internship opportunities for summer 2015 in Rwanda and Haiti.

In Kigali, Rwanda, the intern will work with Duhugurane, a non-profit organization that provides business training, coaching, and support to women ages 18-25 to help them launch their own enterprises.

In Haiti, Kouzin Dlo, a social enterprise project of The Archimedes Project is promoting community health by increasing access to affordable, clean water. Kouzin Dlo expects to accomplish this by building a decentralized network of Haitian women entrepreneurs to sell chlorine for household water treatment within their communities.

ANNOUNCING NEW POLICY BRIEFING SERIES, DMC PERSPECTIVE

The DMC Perspective is a new policy briefing series that features the DeVoe Moore Center’s analysis on current events in Florida. The series features multiple policy blogs and sometimes an op-ed to analyze and inform the public about current controversies.

Our first issue focused on sports stadiums and economic development. The second edition is concentrated on occupational licensing. Our most recent issue is centered around local regulation of up-start transportation services, like Uber.

Read more about the process that goes into creating the Perspectives and their benefits here!

Stay tuned to our website for new editions of the DMC Perspective, set to release in the near future!
